Masconomet Regional High School

Reflections . . .

> "When to the sessions of sweet silent thought, I summon up remembrances of things past . . . "
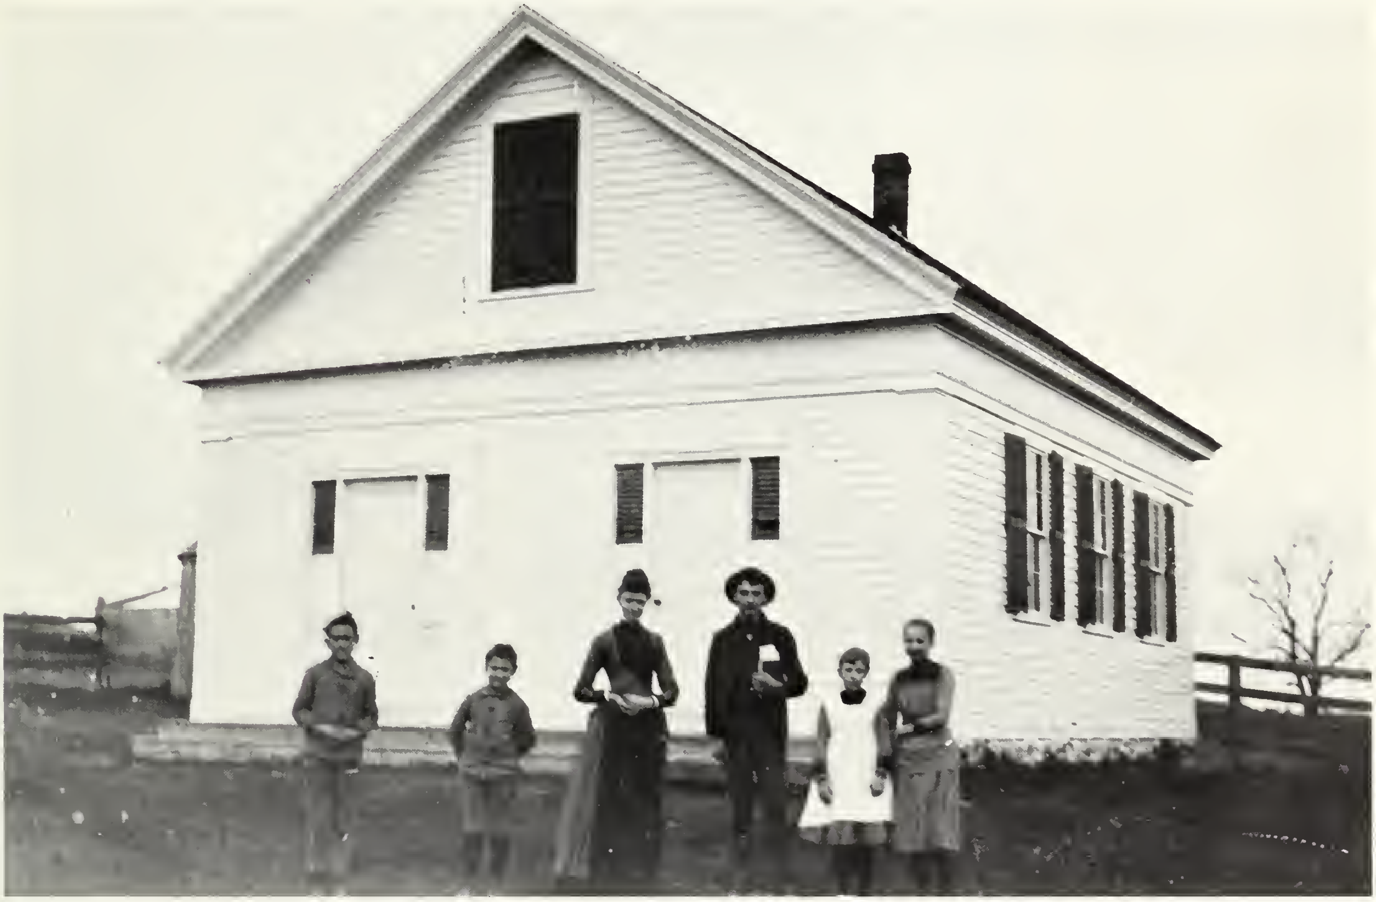
> — Shakespeare —



The Old East School in Topsfield had an enrollment of 11 pupils. (1897)

Our thanks to Mr. Horton D. Bradstreet, a lifelong resident of Topsfield for generously allowing us to use the original glass plates (1887-1925), from which all the historical pictures were printed.

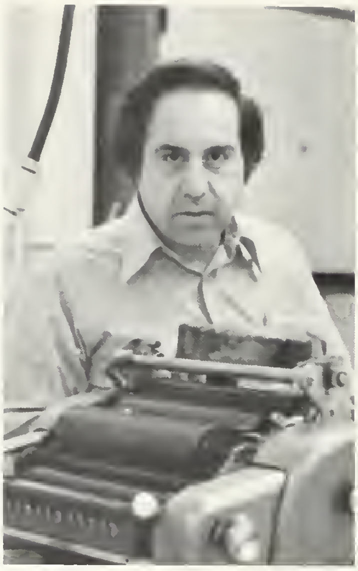
The Class of 1976 is proud of its reputation of being a class of individuals. Therefore, when it came time to pick one person whom we all admired and respected; one person who influenced all our lives, we were at a loss. For that reason, we would like to dedicate our yearbook to the entire faculty of Masconomet Regional High School. We would like to take this opportunity to thank our teachers for all they have done for, and with us. Each of us will always remember that special teacher; the one who somehow managed to reach us — through a special way of teaching, understanding or just listening. But most of all, we thank our teachers for just putting up with us — through four very important years.



JOHN BERNARD ROLSMA

> The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want . . . And I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever.
> Psalm 23

John Bernard Rolsma was active with many interests. During his high school years he was a member of the math team, sang with the Chorale and played the French horn in the band. He also played on the freshman basketball team, and ran with the track and cross country teams.

John was active with the Congregational Church youth group and sang in the choir. He raised several sheep while a member of the Golden Fleece 4-H Club.

With a major interest in boats and sailing, John was the boatswain for the Sea Explorer Ship III. He spent many summer afternoons sailing and rowing at Hood's Pond and Marblehead Harbor.

John was accepted as a candidate for appointment to the Class of 1980 at the United States Coast Guard Academy.

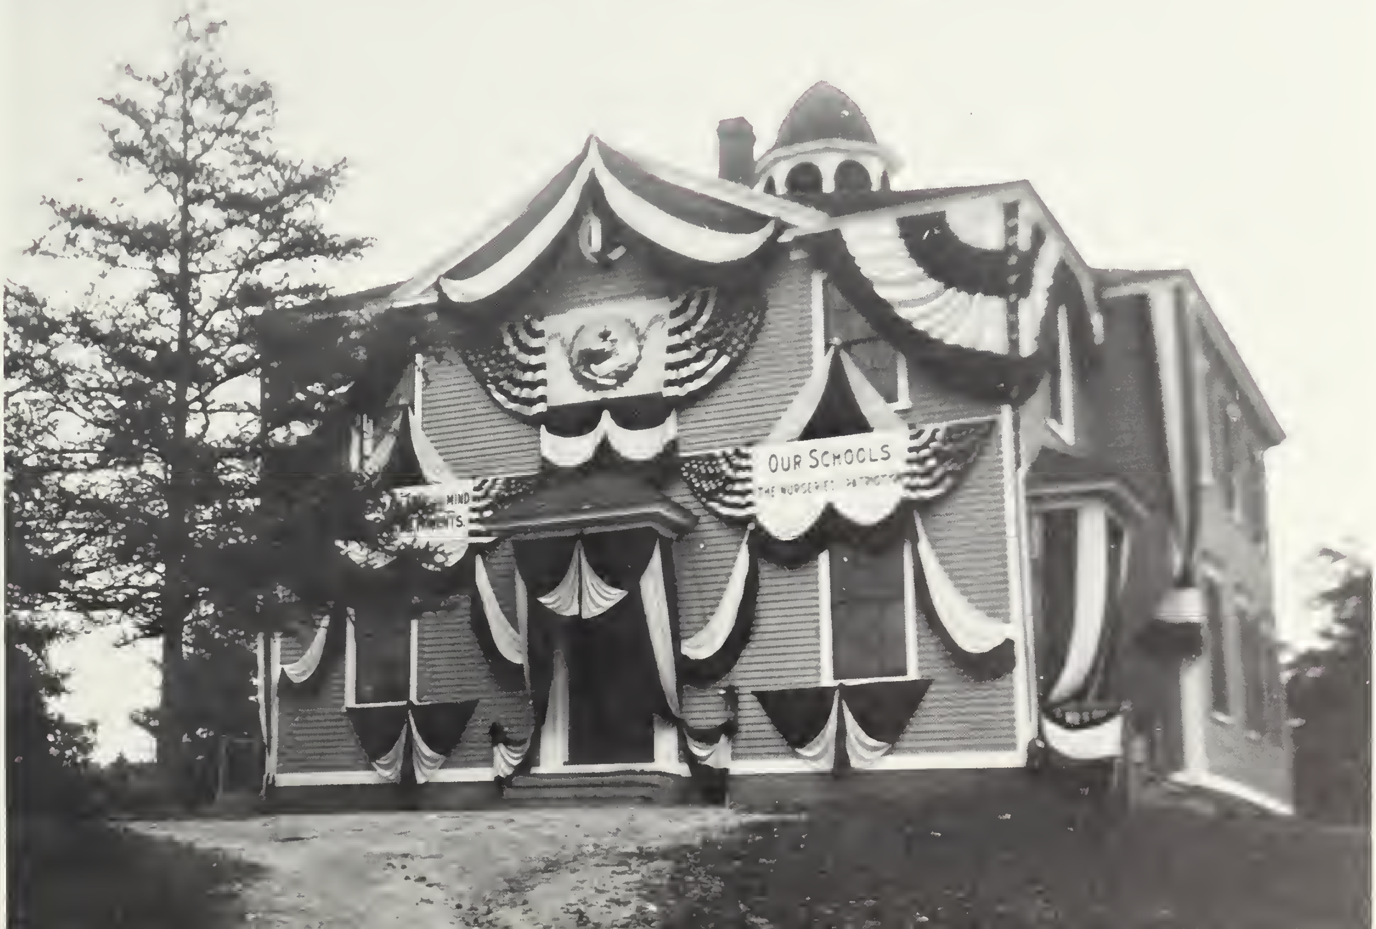
Alice Merrill and Olive Floyd having a bit of fun (1910)



Senior Halloween Party

On the cold, haunting evening of October 25, 1975, the Senior Class held its Halloween Party in the Junior High Cafeteria. The party was a howling success due to the arrival of such celebrities as Dracula (Jay Harris), Alexander the Great (Cary O'Brien) and Hemo the Magnificent (Rob Cathcart) Jeff Lane shocked everyone by arriving headless, but he didn't create as much excitement as Jack Mangini, who was a Playboy Bunny. Second Generation provided the music and the entire party was organized by Mary Lou Silva.

The Senior Sensations

Powder Puff

Led by a brilliant touchdown run by Randi Monroe, the Senior Sensations blasted the '77 Strippers, 12-6 in Powder Puff action on December 1, 1975. The Seniors, led by coaches Rob Cathcart, Hugh Bogart and Al Race, practiced for four hard weeks in order to take their traditional victory. '77 coach Mike Kastrinelis credited the Seniors with "playing one heck of a ballgame."

The '77 Strippers

Senior Frolics — Act One

Reflections "A Second Glance" was presented by the class of 1976 on December 12 and 13, 1975. Everyone involved worked hard, had a lot of fun, and when it was all over, agreed it was a very rewarding experience.

As a typical Masco student falling asleep during class, Carol Torres, directed by her mind, Jay Borden, had some extraordinary and often hilarious dreams. These included a visit to a history class by members of the Spanish Inquisition, a typical speech by Gerald Ford and even a Fairy Tale. The Girls' Chorus Line was at its sophisticated best performing to Beatles' songs, "Sargent Pepper's Lonely Hearts' Club Band" and "A Little Help From My Friends." Primping and prancing in their finery, the Boys' Chorus Line sang and danced to "I Feel Pretty."

Co-directors Richard Moore and Peggy Anderson poked fun at each other in an appropriate adaptation of "Bosom Buddies." Peter Larson and Brian Flaherty, stage manager and set design chairperson respectively, had the task of transforming the stage into the world of dreams. Other hard-working people included Tom Wehling and Wendy Markus, General Managers, Liz Smith, Pit director; Sarah Rider, Production Secretary, Todd Weltler lighting, Marybeth Hoffman and Barbara Mueskes, costumes; Dave Robertson and Mike Salmon, Boys' Chorus Line, Melanie Hull and Laurie Chartier, Girls' Chorus Line and Leslie Spring, opening and closing number solos.

The advisors who were extremely helpful and gave a lot of time were Mr. R. Meegan, Mr. R. Morse, Ms. J. Jarvie and Mr. T. Meinelt.

The cast party, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marks, (and varions other locations throughout the tri-town area) was stirred up by the very unexpected arrival of some uninvited guests (and their dogs).

Senior Frolics and the party will be long remembered by the members of the class of 1976, their parents and many residents of Middleton, Boxford and Topsfield.

"I can sum up Senior Frolics in three words "Go for it". We went for it . . . and we made it."

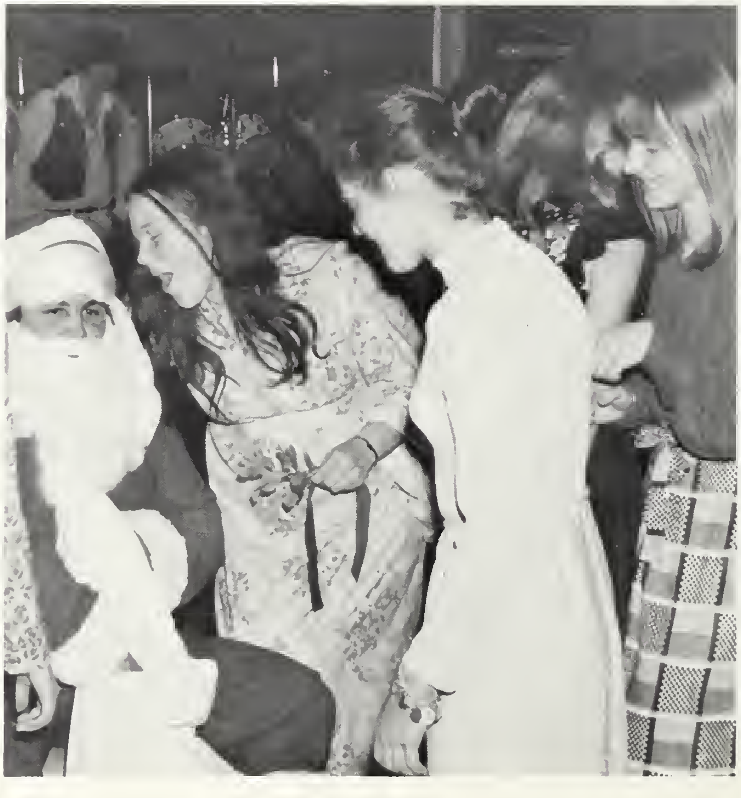
Director

ACT TWO

Senior Christmas Party

Santa (Jim Gilford) Claus made an early surprise appearance at the Senior Christmas Party. The party was held at the Thompson Club in North Reading on December 16, 1975. Stonehouse provided the music and the entire affair was organized by Marnie Jeffery and Paula Holmes.



THE CRUCIBLE

"It is impossible for man to organize his social life without repressions, and the balance has yet to be struck between order
and freedom."

— Arthur Miller

Arthur Miller's thrilling drama, The Crucible, will long be remembered as one of Masconomet's finest productions.The play, set in 16th century Salem, deals with the witch hysteria that plauged the area at that time. Starring in the November 7th and 8th productions were Bill Baron, Jay Borden, Donna Murphy, Richard Moore and Melanie May.

OKLAHOMA!

Masco's hard working, talented dramatic group and director Ms. Jean Jarvie, succeeded once again on March 5 and 6 at the presentation of Oklahoma! The Rogers and Hammerstein musical is set in the Oklahoma Territory of the early 1900's, with the settlers anxiously anticipating their upcoming statehood. Playing the romantic female lead, Laurie, was Donna Murphy. Her cowboy hero boyfriend was played by Richard Moore. Laurie's Aunt Eller, the typically rough but loving settler was well acted by Mary Buckley. Ado Annie, the famous "Girl Who Couldn't Say No", and her equally amorous boyfriend, Will, were portrayed by Peggy Anderson and Kevin Murphy. Equally important to the show were Bill Bond, as Jud, the dark and mysterious villian, Jay Borden as the adventurous peddler, and Laurie Peterson as Gertie, the obnoxious girlfriend.

Along with the standard love theme, this show portrays the spirit of respect and cooperation necessary to make a new state prosper. Likewise, let us not forget the dedication of the chorus of the show, crew, costumes, set design, make-up, and so many others whose efforts make a performance successful. "We know we belong to the land. And the land we belong to is grand . . . we're saying "You're doing fine, Oklahoma,Oklahoma, O.K!""

Breathe easy — dump fire is dead

By BEA FITCH

MIDDLETON — After almost three months, the Middleton dump fire finally is out And, according to town fire chief George Nash, the air pollution emergency declaration, issued by Gov Michael S Dukakis, is expected to be lifted within several days

Paul T Anderson, of the state office of Environmental Quality Engineering, (EQE), yesterday said suspension of the emergency declaration was merely a procedural matter

As the 11 week fire, which acquainted thousands of North Shore residents with the existence of Peter Rubchinuk's landfill site, becomes a thing of the past, the legal procedures which date back to September 1971 again come into the foreground

EQE Commissioner David Standley of Beverly, issued a tentative decision Monday, rejecting Rubchinuk's appeal of the state's "cease and desist" order of Aug 1

The August order asked Rubchinuk to submit his plans for the closing of the landfill area and noted that an inspection found severe violations of existing landfill regulations

In Monday's decision, Standley reaffirmed the "cease and desist" order stating it was supported by the facts and was issued properly

The letter sent to Rubchinuk this week orders him to:

—Immediately cease all further dumping of demolition materials or any other refuse as defined by regulations, on any portion of the area

—Submit to engineering department within 30 days plans for the closing of the facility prepared by a registered professional engineer as specified under Sect 81M, Chapt 112, of Massachusetts General Laws

—Close the landfill in accordance with the plans approved by the department or, if no approvable plans are submitted, to close the landfill in accordance with plans written by the department

Party after Frolics closed out by police

The all-night party after the Masconomet Senior Frolics ended about six hours early. Police from four towns, complete with attack dogs, broke it up around midnight Saturday at the home of senior Bard Marks, Essex street, Middleton.

According to Middleton police chief Edward Richardson, the raid was prompted by "a couple" complaints received from neighbors and a "traffic hazard" from about 100 cars parked along Essex street.

An estimated 250 to 300 students from the regional school had gathered at the Marks home for the traditional party after the second night of the annual variety show put on by the Responding were officers and dogs from Danvers, Peabody and North Reading. The dogs, Richardson said, were controlled by their handlers and not released.

A gate across the Marks' driveway on Essex street was closed, the chief added.

The young people went quietly. "We had no intention of going and making a problem," the chief said.

No charges will be brought although "kids were drinking in the street," according to the chief, who said there we kegs of beer and liquor on lawn of the Marks home.

Topsfield was quiet after the second night of Frolic according to Chief Ha Moore.

Homecoming Day

Homecoming Day was packed with more events than any other single day at Masconomet. At 8:00 AM, the speech Club sponsored a pancake breakfast at the Parish Hall. After hundreds of customers consumed all the pancakes they could eat, the group moved to Masco for the annual parade and the traditional football game. The Chieftains were defeated by the Ipswich Tigers, 34-12. At halftime, it was announced that the class of 1978 constructed the finest float in the Homecoming Parade. Homecoming Queen Amy Ripple and her court took a victory ride in front of the stands along the sophomore's float. That evening, the Student Council ran a dance for all Masconomet students and alumni.

The 1975 season was a very frustrating one for the Masconomet football team. It was a season full of fumbles, one point losses, and costly penalties. Early in the pre-season, the Chieftans appeared to have a very promising team. Coach Carletti was quite optimistic with the return of many key starters and some good looking young players. After the opening game, Mr. Carletti stated, "We beat ourselves." The team played some good football but killed itself with costly errors. The pattern was set for the rest of the season. Just as in the first game, the Chieftains continued to be aggressive and competitive. However, the heartbreaking losses were still there. The team won two games convincingly and played well against contenders North Andover and Newburyport. "We probably did establish some respect this season," said tri-captain Russ Pszenny. Dave Robertson wrapped up the season saying, "We had the potential, we just didn't put it together."

SOCCER

The 1975 soccer season started with grueling double sessions one week before school opened, and with Masco's fourth Cape Ann League title in the same amount of years. Right from the start, it was general knowledge that it would be another successful and fun season. Masco's 12-0-2 league record placed the team in fifth place in the State for Division I. The team then moved on to the state preliminary competition against a good Framingham North team, winning 2-1 on Pete Tyson's goals. The season ended at Stonehill College in Easton, Mass. Masco lost to Braintree 3-0. Outstanding Performers: Dan Bergsten, Mark Agnew, Erik Schmakel, and Craig Hancock made all Cape Ann League. Tom Shaughnessy and Peter Tyson made All West (along with the others). Erik Schmakel lead the league with 28 points (22 goals and 6 assists); Craig Hancock was in second with 27 points (14 goals and 13 assists).

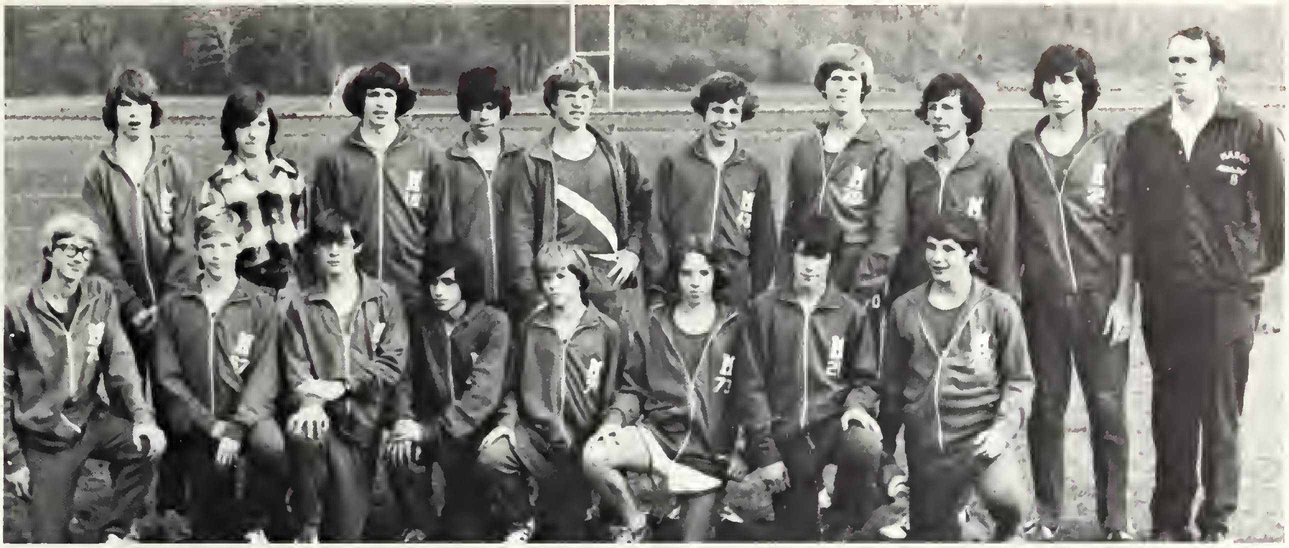
After suffering three humbling defeats early in the season, the injury-plagued team, under expert and inspiring leadership of Coach Larry Gregorchick, resurrected itself into an unbeatable machine. Captain Tom Malone battled back from a severe foot injury to play a major role in the harriers winning surge. Sophmore Al Dexter, with a strong rear guard of runners, led the team to victory and vengeance as they overwhelmed all opponents and captured the Cape Ann League Open Championship title; ending the season with an impressive 10-3 record.



The J.V. team won 8, lost 2, and placed first in the Cape Ann League Open.

The girls played some great games this year. Although the record doesn't reflect it, the field hockey team outscored their opponents throughout the season. There was a lot of improvement on both the offensive and defensive lines. Teamwork and hard practice paid off with more competitive games and advanced skills. There were plenty of good times both on and off the field. Next year's team should be very strong with a lot of returning players.

It was a good year for the girls. They worked hard and played better hockey with each succeeding game.

SWIM TEAM

The intramural swim team, under the skilled instruction of Paul Blackhall, a one-time Olympic hopefull and presently a top competitor of the New England Masters Swim Club, directed the young athletes with an enthusiasm which is often lacking in many of today's high school sports. Many students showed great potential and interscholastic competition is in the planning for next year.

The Varsity Basketball team emerged as a powerhouse in the Cape Ann League by finishing second in the West Division with a record of 14-6. The Chieftains qualified for the State Division Tournament before being knocked out of the race. Dave Munroe, the team's 6'3" captain led the team in scoring, played excellent defense, and came up with many key rebounds during the course of the season. Mike Barry, the assistant captain, provided the Chieftains with inside muscle and scoring power. On February 6, senior Don Simms came up with the best game of his career, sinking eighteen points.

Juniors comprised most of the 1976 varsity squad. Mark Agnew, Glen Rhuda, Tom Hennigan, and Paul Bogart played regularly for the Chieftains and helped guide the team into the State Tourney. The most exciting game of the regular season came in late January, when Mark Agnew sank two free throws with only fourteen seconds remaining in overtime to defeat the North Reading Hornets, 57-59.

This was easily the most important game of the year and everything was downhill for the J.V.s after that. The girls' varsity basketball team enjoyed a successful season this year, finishing off with a league record of 13-5. Masco's finale was a strong one to take 2nd place in the Cape Ann League's Western Division. Lead by high scoring co-captain Toby Mead, averaging 15.5 points per game, Masco's offensive threat was completed by Suki Bullens with 12 points per game and Mary Jane VanKavelaar with 9 points per game. Defensive sparks came from co-captain Kathy Kindregan, Sharon Ludes, Sandy Fuhs, and Heather Crowe. The squad was completed by Beth Blackburn, Marcia Rollins, Connie Wilson, and Marlene Joyce. We've played some fantastic ball games this year, with an unforgettable night against undefeated St. Mary's of Lawrence; losing in the final seconds 55-57. The girls have come a long way this year through sheer determination, dedication, and long practive hours. I'm proud to say that I coached the team and look forward to another good season for the girls next year. — Coach Amy Friedman

It was a comparatively young, but, nonetheless, largely veteran team, with a hard core of top performers who established for themselves reputations of near-invincibility throughout the league. Coach Larry Gregorchik, hampered by inadequate and often non-existent facilities, once again proved his skill at drawing water from the rock by creating a powerful team that earned the respect of the entire Commonwealth Conference. Although seemingly unimpressive, the final 4-4 record serves an undisputable testimony to the team's regained prestige and significant accomplishments in a conference far more competitive than the Cape Ann League. — Tom Malone, team captain.

WRESTLING

As predicted by coach Dennis Puleo, the Masconomet wrestling team finished the season as one of the strongest teams in the Cape Ann League. The Varsity finished with a 12-5-1 record. Masco's best grapplers in 1976 included Charlie Wood, the league champion at 114 pounds, co-captain Jeff Leighton at 121, juniors Steve Hogan and Gary Moser at 134 and 147, senior Mike Sims at 157, co-captain Rob Cathcart 169, Tony Ferrari, 187, and heavyweight Jim Gilford. Masco's finest meet of the season occured in early February, when the Chieftains defeated the Hamilton-Wenham Generals, 26-24, and gave them a 5-0 record in the league. The team's most convincing win was a 70-0 demolition of Lynnfield, when many junior varsity wrestlers gained valuable varsity experience.

The Astronomy Club which was initiated this year, has been a great success thanks to its advisor Mr. Morse. Their main project was to construct a wooden observation platform on the B-Wing roof which has been used quite frequently. Other projects include the building of a mount, cover and finder scope for the school's 6" reflector as well as the rebuilding of a three inch telescope. One particularly noteworthy event was the total lunar eclipse of November 18. Many students who were not in the club were present and expressed their interest. Next year it is hoped that the Astronomy Club will continue to work on projects which are of interests to its members as well as the entire student body.

I was little once, a few years ago
A time, a place — do I really know?
I've left that past, but when and where?
Will I ever know, do I really care?

Booster shots and a scrape on the knee
Living out a childhood fantasy
"I'm Superman, you're Lois Lane!"
"Indoor recess, it's beginning to rain."

Then junior high came, and it went so fast
High school didn't even seem to last.
"My baby," they say "you've grown so tall!"
And "What will you be doing next fall?"

I was little once, a few years ago
A time, a place — do I really know?
But the past is done, the future will come
And I've a life to live under the sun . . .

To all my Friends: as I sit and realize how long and hard I've searched for the happiness of today, My mind opens into the vast memories of many yesterdays and sings of the truth and beauty of friendship. There is nothing dearer to me than the smiles and emotions I have shared with all the people I have enclosed within my heart. My smiles and jokes are made to excite the laughter of others. -- For the happines which I treasure was created by the return of your love + friendship to me.

And so there ain't nothing more to write about and I am rotten glad of it because if I'd a knowned what a trouble it was to make a book, I wouldn't a tackled it and I ain't a going to no more . . .

— Mark Twain

In spite of everything, the 1976 MITOBO finally became a reality. Amid much loud "discussion", the "dedicated few" worked afternoons, nights, weekends and vacations in search of the perfect Jostens American Layout. What they did stumble upon, was the discovery that a pica saved is a pica earned. Arriving 20 minutes after everyone else was editor Carol Torres, who every day upon arrival said, "Why don't we make this a nice short meeting?" Her weapons were an orange grease pencil and a broken pica ruler and her motto was "Don't do today what you can put off till tomorrow." Carol's main objective of the year was to get the staff to believe that white space really was interesting. Assistant editor, Jean Fischer, was the resident mathematical genuis, coming to the rescue when 157.9 had to be divided by 17.7. Jean also kept everyone well-informed by stating such helpful facts as, "Uh, I think we have a deadline tomorrow." All worrying (necessary as well as unnecessary) was expertly handled by layout editor Charlotte Dexter. Voted as "Most Dedicated to the Yearbook", "Chuck" lived up to her title by doing all the running around for the yearbook and a lot of extra work. She was also on a first name basis with all the guys at Stevens Studios, especially Tony. All entertainment was provided by Ellen Achenbach, assistant layout editor. Ellen was the most versatile of the staff. She could sing, dance, tell jokes and lay out a double page spread — all at the same time.

Photography editor Sarah Thuermer was amazing. She was always in the right place at the right time; taking and developing an infinite number of pictures. Her photographic expertise was surpassed only be her total dedication and cooperation. Club editor Brian Keith(and his box)worked hard and was determined to make the club section unique. Sara Beck(underclasspeople editor)was the most reliable worker. She would do whatever had to be done and always did it well. Copy editor Kerry Gardner helped the staff out of a lot of jams by her speed in typing and also by bringing food. Terry Ackerman(and his endless supply of typewriters) was there when we needed him, always willing to help. The Yearbook Hall of Fame was initiated this year. Its purpose was to honor those who will distinctly be remembered by the staff. The most successful fund raising campaign ever(ad drive, candle sale, subscription drive, candy sale) was organized by co-ordinator Liz Smith and co-editors Sherry Magor and Becky Palmer.The yearbook staff would like to thank Mr. James Garabedian for being our advisor. His knowledge of graphics and layout helped tremendously in putting together this book. We would like to thank Mr. Roger Lauzon for all his help and guidance concerning business matters.

We would also like to thank all those who helped us during the year, faculty members as well as students. This yearbook is the product of all our ideas, labor, headaches and devotion. It was created for all the people of Masconomet and we hope it is interesting as well as entertaining.

Looking back,
Hanging on to a thread of the past.
Pulling forward
To the unknown.
Not wishing to break the string,
Not wanting to pull apart the familiar.
My friends, school, the family,
Good times.
I see them fading fast behind me.
The future blinds me, coming quickly,
Shining brightly,
Beckoning me to move on.
When I do break the thread,
I won't close my eyes
To what can be.
But, for the moment,
I'll just hang on
To what was
And
Look back.
